

Horses and Bushfires

Bushfire Fact Sheet

Prepare to relocate your horses

If you are a horse owner you need to develop a bushfire plan that includes what to do with your horse. You may choose to find a safe area on your property for the horse to shelter or you may decide to relocate your horse.

Identifying a safe place for your horse

Walk around your property and choose a safe area where horses can be placed if it is not possible or practical to relocate them. The area should:

- be as large as possible. This may be created by opening gates to several paddocks.
- be closely grazed or a large well fenced sand area that does not have any trees or buildings nearby that will burn easily.
- have a dam with easy access.

Identify several routes to get the horse to its safe place from your property, as it will depend where the fire is on the day.

Relocating your horse

If your plan is to relocate your horse you need to make arrangements ahead of time for a place to temporarily relocate your horse.

If you cannot take your horse to family or friends, contact your local ranger when writing your bushfire plan to get advice on where there may be emergency paddocks or stables in your area. These safe places cannot be guaranteed, as conditions could change on the day, so make sure you also have a back-up plan.

Decide which horses you will move. Ensure your horse float is roadworthy and ready to make the trip.

Make sure your horses are float trained and if the fire is at night you need to be confident that you will be able to move the horses in the dark.

! REMEMBER: Make sure your horse is identifiable (brand, microchip or address on its head gear) in case it goes missing during an emergency.

What to take

The horse handler should wear clothing made of natural fibres (boots, jeans, long sleeved shirt) and gloves to avoid rope burn. You should prepare an emergency kit ahead of time. It should include:

- wire cutters and a sharp knife.
- extra lead rope and halter.
- woollen blanket and towels.
- horse first aid kit.
- emergency supply of food.

Safety tips

For the safety and wellbeing of your horse the following safety tips should be observed.

- Do not shut your horse in the stable as that will give it no chance of saving itself in the fire.
- Do not let your horses out of their paddock onto the road. This not only endangers emergency personnel who are fighting fires but also the horse itself.
- Do not leave a rug on the horse if the fire is close. Rugs burn.

For more information visit dfes.wa.gov.au or contact DFES Community Engagement – 9395 9816

The information contained in this material is provided voluntarily as a public service by the Department of Fire and Emergency Services (DFES). This material has been prepared in good faith and is derived from sources believed to be reliable and accurate at the time of publication. Nevertheless, the reliability and accuracy of the information cannot be guaranteed and DFES expressly disclaims liability for any act or omission done or not done in the reliance on the information and for any consequences whether direct or indirect, arising from such act or omission. This publication is intended to be a guide only and viewers should obtain their own independent advice and make their own necessary inquiries.

Government of Western Australia
Department of Fire & Emergency Services

